MAD RIVER UNION
HUMBOLDT — Citing state law, a Humboldt County proclamation has affirmed support for gender nonconforming people and vows legal protection from “attempts to impose criminal punishment, civil liability, administrative penalties or professional sanctions based on the laws of other states.”

Aisha Candrian Morton

The legal shield, as per California’s SB107, is part of a Board of Supervisors proclamation that recognizes “the importance of gender-affirming healthcare, including mental health services, as matters of essential daily living and equality.”

Approved at the August 12 board meeting, the proclamation affirms the county’s commitment to uphold the rights of “two-spirit, transgender, gender nonconforming and intersex” residents and visitors, abbreviated in the proclamation as 2S/TGI.

As noted in the proclamation, the support comes during a backlash against transgen-

What is the City of Arcata really doing about housing and homelessness? A FAQ

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA — The City of Arcata has received many questions lately about what is happening in Arcata relating to housing and homelessness, as well as specific interest in cleanups on private property and other public property and seeks to address a few common questions.

Arcata has embraced the challenge of preventing homelessness and providing housing for its residents and has been one of the most successful cities in the state at doing so.

Regardless, there is more work to be done and the city will continue to create housing and seek solutions to provide housing opportunities for its residents.

Some of the most common questions and clarifying information:

What is the city doing to prevent homelessness and provide housing?

The city is not in this alone; city staff and elected officials meet monthly with local partners to develop strategies for preventing homelessness and provide housing. The meetings are organized by the city as the Homeless Services Working Group and includes the County of Humboldt, Arcata House Partnership, Open Door Community Health Clinic and other regional providers to align strategies, share resources and close service gaps.

The city has undertaken many projects to develop housing and preserve residents’ ability to stay in their homes including the following projects and programs:

- Affordable Housing Creation — Supported the development of 552 regulated units for households earning under 80 percent of the area median income.

- In just the past five years, the City of Arcata has increased the supply of regulated affordable housing by 65 percent.

- Valley West Home Key Projects — Partnered with developers to create 140 new units for extremely low-income households focused on the most vulnerable including formerly homeless residents and those under threat of domestic violence.

Assistance included grant funding for purchase and construction as well as additional funding for operations.

- Mobile Home Rehabilitation Program — Used the Manufactured Housing Opportunity and Revitalization program to repair and preserve mobile homes for low-income

Humboldt seeks path to 2045 carbon neutrality

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT — Humboldt County’s Planning Commission has begun the process of reviewing one of the county’s most ambitious planning efforts — the Regional Climate Action Plan, which maps a path to carbon neutrality by 2045.

In an August 7 Planning Commission workshop, there were questions about the county’s carbon footprint trends due to declines in industrial activity and the role of carbon sequestration.

Get evidence-based speech therapy for voice disorders, swallowing and breathing

NORTH COAST SPEECH PATHOLOGY
ARCATA — North Coast Speech Pathology is pleased to announce that its office has moved to a new, convenient location at 3798 Janes Rd., Suite 11, Arcata.

The practice continues to serve the Humboldt County community with high-quality, evidence-based speech therapy services for adults.

North Coast Speech Pathology specializes in:

- Voice Disorders – Including hoarseness, vocal fatigue, muscle tension

dysphonia and post-cancer voice rehabilitation

- Swallowing Disorders (Dysphagia) – Evaluation and therapy for difficulties with swallowing, including after stroke, head and neck cancer treatment or other medical conditions
- Motor Speech Disorders – Treatment for speech changes related to Parkinson’s disease, stroke, traumatic brain injury and other neurological conditions
- Parkinson’s Voice Therapy – “SPEAK OUT!” and “LOUD Crowd” programs to maintain strong, intentional speech
- Reactive Airway Disorders – Including paradoxical vocal fold movement (PVFM) and chronic cough

The move allows North Coast Speech Pathology to continue providing patient-centered care in a welcoming, accessible environment, while remaining close to the medical community in Arcata and surrounding areas.

“I am excited to welcome patients to our new office,” said Mollie Watson, speech-language pathologist and owner. “My mission is to help adults improve their communication, swallowing and breathing so they can truly live their life.”

McK Town Center workshop Thursday, 6 p.m.

COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT
EUREKA – If you are interested in the McKinleyville Town Center Ordinance, you are encouraged to attend the Humboldt County Planning Commission’s workshop.

The planning commission will begin its review of the McKinleyville Town Center Ordinance with a public workshop on Thursday, Aug. 21. At the workshop, commissioners will hear a report on the McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee’s (McKMAC) work in developing the ordinance and will review both the ordinance and the environmental impact report prepared for the ordinance.

Background

The Humboldt County General Plan and McKinleyville Community Plan envision a town center with a mix of commercial, civic and residential uses, along with public gathering areas, open space and wetland preservation.

Part of the vision is to create a vibrant area where people can live, work and gather, with easy access by walking, biking, driving or via public transit.

Development of the new McKinleyville town center would happen gradually over time, with each new project going through a zoning conformance review process known as zoning clearance certification.

The McKMAC has held public discussions on the McKinleyville Town Center Ordinance since 2019 and is close to making its final recommendation. The upcoming workshop will take place before that recommendation, providing the planning commission an opportunity to review the work that has gone into the ordinance preparation and proposed regulations.

Share your input

All interested members of the public are invited to attend the McKinleyville Town Center Ordinance Workshop and provide comments on the draft of the ordinance as it currently exists.

The workshop will be held in the Board of Supervisors Chamber, located in the Humboldt County Courthouse at 825 Fifth St. in Eureka. The workshop will take place shortly after 6 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 21.

Members of the public may also attend the meeting on Zoom or watch a live stream of the meeting on the county’s meeting agenda web page or by watching Access Humboldt on cable Channel 11. Zoom information will be provided in the meeting agenda.

For more information, or if you have questions or comments regarding the McKinleyville Town Center Ordinance, please contact Humboldt County Planning & Building Director John Ford at (707) 268-3738 or email jford@co.humboldt.ca.us.

TRINIDAD TIDINGS The vehicle parking warning sign above has been attached to the Trinidad tennis court fence for some time. So far there is no evidence that illegally parked motor vehicles have found their way to the bottom of the harbor. Join in solidarity with Equity Arcata Saturday

ARCATA – Equity Arcata, a community initiative dedicated to fostering an inclusive and thriving local community, is excited to announce upcoming events aimed at supporting local businesses, students and the community at large.
On Saturday, Aug. 23 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Equity Arcata will stand in solidarity with Centro Del Pueblo for an all-day, multi-activity day of celebrating the sanctuary status of our county and the solidarity our community has created for our undocumented neighbors in response to the current sociopolitical climate.
We invite you to join in the celebration. Meet for a at 8 a.m. for a rolling demonstration starting at the Bay Trail in Eureka which should make its appearance by 10 a.m. at the Arcata Plaza Farmers’ Market where you can hear local organizations speak, perform and interact with Equity Arcata’s booth for a certificate to use at the Farmers’ Market.
Then at noon we will march to the Sanctuary Garden in Arcata at 11th and F streets. Here, performances, food and community connection will continue into the evening.

Lastly, join Equity Arcata, the Home Away From Home working group and several generous community members, in kicking off our Home Away From Home Potlucks with the first one Sunday Sept. 7 from 5 to 6 p.m. at the D Street Neighborhood Center.
This event provides a free meal and a distribution of household supplies to help students feel supported and welcomed in the community. It is potluck-style to encourage relationship-building between students and Arcata’s broader community while recognizing the vital contributions students make to the area.
Vegetarian and other dietary options will be available.
For more information about these events, to RSVP and learn more about Equity Arcata, please visit equityarcata.com or contact the organization by email at equityarcata@gmail.com.

Celebrate with Dandar’s Boardgames and Books

DANDAR’S BOARDGAMES AND BOOKS
ARCATA – Dandar’s Boardgames and Books is thrilled to announce the grand opening of its new, larger location in downtown Arcata, coupled with a celebration of its six-year anniversary.
The community is invited to join the festivities on Saturday, Aug. 30 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at their new address, 959 H St., Arcata. This exciting event will feature a storewide sale and complimentary use of game tables in the newly expanded game space for the entire day.
The new location provides ample room for comfortable gaming tables, inviting customers to explore the store’s extensive game library or bring their own favorite games to play.
Dan and Doranna (Dar) Gilkey, the passionate owners, first opened Arcata’s friendly local game shop in August of 2019. Their vision was to create a welcoming space where people could connect, discover new games and foster a love for board games and books. This move to a larger space is a testament to their dedication and the growing support from the local community.
“We are incredibly excited to welcome everyone to our new home,” said Dan Gilkey, co-owner and manager of Dandar’s Boardgames and Books. “Our goal has always been to provide a fantastic experience for gamers and readers alike, and this larger space allows us to do just that, with more games, more comfort and more fun for everyone.”
The grand opening and anniversary celebration promises a day of fun, discounts and community engagement.
For more information, please contact Dan Gilkey at (707) 630-5200, dgilkey@boardgamesandbooks.com or visit boardgamesandbooks.com.

Monty and Summer, sweet and eager to engage

The county shelter has been short-staffed for quite a while due to staffing changes and a cumbersome hiring process.
Our amazing volunteers have been filling in on every front – cleaning kennels, doing dishes and laundry, and showing the animals to potential adopters. New staff members are starting this week and we are looking forward to more time available for walking and playing with the critters!

Our dogs have been very patient but will enjoy the increased attention. If you’d like to help make them even happier, we could use more treats to restock the cupboards. We encourage supporting local businesses but you can also see our wishlist at chewy.com/g/redwood-pals-rescue_b95406740... We prefer soft treats and jerky treats as they are better for our training. Leave a voice-mail at (707) 633-8842 if you would like a pick up of donations. Thank you!
Here are a couple of charmers for your consideration. Monty has been making new friends and fans every day. He is a lover and thoroughly enjoys his time out with the volunteers. Monty was initially a little confused about being in the shelter. I chose to name him after someone who was very special to me in hopes that it would help him gain some confidence.

DOG TOWN

It worked!
As soon as Monty moved into the adoptable section, he started working his charm. We have a few volunteers who come in specifically to walk him.
One of our volunteers had this to say: “I finally took Monty out this morning – what a love! He is very responsive, interactive and easy to engage. Often, he walks with a slack leash. He totally adores being touched, especially a full-body massage! He has very cool panda markings and lovely eyes when he looks at you straight-on. He’s a great kisser, haha! I feel like I have a new pal, and vice versa!”

Monty
JOSH SOLOMON | DOGTOWN

Monty has impressed us with his ability to quickly figure out all of the puzzle games. He’s a smart one! Monty has quite a few buddies among the other dogs and really enjoyed lounging in the shade with them on the hot days we had recently.

Monty is just over a year old and weighs about 62 pounds. He will be a great companion for whomever adopts him! If you would like a dog that will make you feel like you are the greatest person ever, come meet Monty.
Another great young dog is Summer. Summer is also just over a year old and a fairly compact 58 pounds.
She was one of our stars when the Dash and Splash pool was set up at the shelter. Not only did she love jumping in after a ball or squeaky toy, she was willing to have the GoPro strapped to her back, giving us a dog’s-eye view of the whole swimming experience!
We had the chance to take her down to Fortuna recently for another chance at the pool, but our timing was a little off, and she only got a few minutes of swimming. The volunteer who had driven her down decided to take her for an extra adventure.

Summer

She reported, “Summer was so good on the trail and at the beach. We passed other people walking and people on bikes and she was fine. She was so happy to be out and passed out hard on the drive back to the shelter. I’ll definitely be taking her out again, she would be a great adventure buddy for someone!”
The shelter is a somewhat boring place for an adventurous dog like Summer. She would love to find that adopter who would take her to the beach again, or really, on any new adventures! Could that be you?
Monty and Summer are neutered and spayed, microchipped, fully vaccinated and tested for heartworm. They are available for adoption through the Humboldt County Animal Shelter, located at 980 Lycoming Ave. in McKinleville. Information and appointments are available at (707) 840-9132.

Health care | ‘They are important to us, and they matter’

der social acceptance, with hundreds of bills passed nationwide that have “changed the lives of 2S/TGI people.”
The proclamation says the bills “include efforts to prohibit access to lifesaving medical care, prevent youth from playing sports alongside their friends, erase people’s identities from vital records and state driver’s licenses, ban books that include 2S/TGI people and history, prohibit people from using restrooms and facilities where they are safe and affirmed for who they are, frame transgender people as inherently dishonorable, and falsely conflate transgender women and girls with men seeking to harm women and girls.”
According to the proclamation, studies have shown that “gender-affirming health care” improves quality of life and “is associated with better mental health outcomes and lower risks of suicide.”
Also cited in the proclamation is a May 2024 “Humboldt County 2S/LGBTQIA+ School Climate Survey” of middle and high school students.
The survey found that “the majority of gender diverse students report their mental health as being negatively impacted by anti-transgender legislation from across the country, not feeling safe at school and avoiding school restrooms due to fears about their personal safety.”

It also found that “nearly one-third of 2S/TGI youth report living in fear of losing their housing due to being or seeming queer, with 10 percent reporting having been kicked out of their home in the prior year due to anti-queer bias.”
The proclamation says that “in Humboldt County, we believe in and reaffirm the inherent value of each and every resident of our County including our 2S/TGI communities. individuals and families, without exception.”
Supervisor Natalie Arroyo, who read the proclamation and sponsored it with Supervisor Steve Madrone, reminded that August is Transgender History Month in California, saying, “I urge people to learn about trans history – there’s a lot to learn for all of us.”
Aisha Candrian Morton of Queer Humboldt accepted the proclamation and said it stems from “youth advocacy” and collaboration with county officials.
“Our youth leaders facilitated a series of sessions where they drafted a sample proclamation and then met with elected officials such as yourselves to discuss this idea and advocate for the proclamation,” she continued.
“Like the proclamation said, all over the country, politicians are trying to gain political points by abandoning the rights of trans people and it is especially significant to us that we have local support from the Board of Supervisors here in Humboldt County,” she said, thanking supervisors for “doing the right thing and letting our trans community members know that you haven’t forgotten them and their rights.”

A leading member of the county employee Queer Affinity Group described the proclamation as being well-timed.
“I think it’s really important now more than ever to show members of our community that we stand with them and that they are important to us, and that they matter, because it can be a very scary and difficult time right now for members of the trans and two-spirit gender non-conforming community,” she said.
Supervisor Mike Wilson described the proclamation as supportive of a basic democratic principle.
“I think we need to recognize that our support of transgender and diverse gender identities supports freedom,” he said, adding, “when we as a society respect how individuals understand and experience their own gender, it upholds our fundamental principle that people should be free to live as their true selves without facing discrimination or being forced to conform to others expectations about how they should be.”
The proclamation’s approval was unanimous.

rural economies,” with over $100 million a year in revenue generation for the North Coast region.
Interest in the Great Redwood Trail (GRT) runs high and the Aug. 12 town hall’s online attendance peaked at about 2,000 people.
McGuire highlighted the recent opening of the southern segment of the Humboldt Bay Trail, which now spans 14 miles between the cities of Arcata and Eureka.
A future phase will connect it to College of the Redwoods.
Also during the town hall, inclusion of a trail extension between Arcata and Manila was confirmed as being part of the trail master plan.
“Towards the end of our master plan, you’ll see concept maps and that is a concept map that we have that’s identified opportunities and constraints along that section,” Hogan said, adding, “it’s definitely part of the overall trail and it has its own segment number and some concept maps that you can check out in our draft master plan.”

“We’re heading to Manila, this is good stuff,” said McGuire.
Responding to another question, Hogan said the Great Redwood Trail will connect to the Annie and Mary Trail, which will ultimately connect Arcata to Blue Lake.
“Our partners at the City of Arcata are have just put the project out to bid to connect from the skate park near Cal Poly Humboldt in Arcata out to the Humboldt Bay Municipal Water District’s pump stations along West End Road,” she continued. “And so that is a really key connection that’s heading towards the former Annie and Mary line.”
Hogan described it as “a key connection that is heading on out to Blue Lake to join the City of Blue Lake segment that was completed a couple of years ago – there’s about a half-mile there and there are exciting opportunities happening, lots of momentum in Glendale and along the Annie and Mary that we’re working towards for that segment.”

The GRT is mapped as a 320-mile contiguous trail from the San Francisco Bay area to Humboldt Bay.
An Eel River rafting enthusiast asked about how maintenance of the rugged northern section of the trail will be funded and managed.
Hogan differentiated between the maintenance costs of the North Coast Railroad Authority (NCRA), the former manager of the corridor, and the trail agency.
Much of the northern segment will be low-maintenance “back country” gravel trail.
“We’re not trying to bring a train through the Eel River Canyon,” Hogan said. “We’ve had lots of proof that that did not work and was not economically feasible ... having a small backcountry trail, we’re looking at significantly less maintenance costs than you would have seen.”
A notable funding source is Proposition 4, a voter-approved $10 billion bond for a variety of projects, including trails development and maintenance.
Hogan said her agency has secured an “ongoing operations budget for the next several fiscal years with strong state support.”

Projects funded by Prop. 4 may be exempt from California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) reviews and there was a question about potential environmental impacts.
“Regardless of how any new CEQA exemptions may or may not apply to segments of our trail, our commitment remains the same – clean up the corridor, protect cultural resources, and restore the land in partnership with the people who know and care for it the best,” Hogan said.
The deteriorating former rail line was referred to as a “toxic mess,” with McGuire describing the NCRA as a bankrupt agency that “could give two flips about what’s out there environmentally.”
A final project completion date hasn’t been determined but trail segments will be developed in stages over the next 20 years and McGuire concluded by saying, “We’re gonna do this right, not fast.”

ARTFUL MEMORIALS Colorful tributes to Derek Russell cropped up at key locations. Passing of Derek Russell stuns local skating community, with tributes and hope for AMPT

Derek Russell, pillar of the Humboldt skate community and owner of AMPT, passed suddenly on July 31 – the community is processing the loss with public art-works. Art on the streets of Arcata in front of the AMPT store and at the Arcata Skate Park with his name or visage serve as a physical reminder of his impact. Through murals, altars and digital remembrances his community is memorializing him and his legacy. Since his passing people have also been sharing fond memories and feelings. Friends, community members and loved ones remember him as generous, encouraging and full of life. Many spoke to how welcomed they always felt by him, and how AMPT has been a space of creativity and community for many young artists and skaters. Many others attest to his kindness, spirit and the purpose he found and fostered through his skating community. Parents of young skaters spoke of how inspired their children were in AMPT skate camps, and longtime skaters reminisced on his growth as a skater and leader since meeting him as a young skater. If you want to help uplift the shop as they fight to keep afloat and navigate the many complicated legal hurdles ahead in the face of this loss you can donate or share their gofundme in this link: gofund.me/a49944ce.

Watermelon Sorbet with Coconut Cream

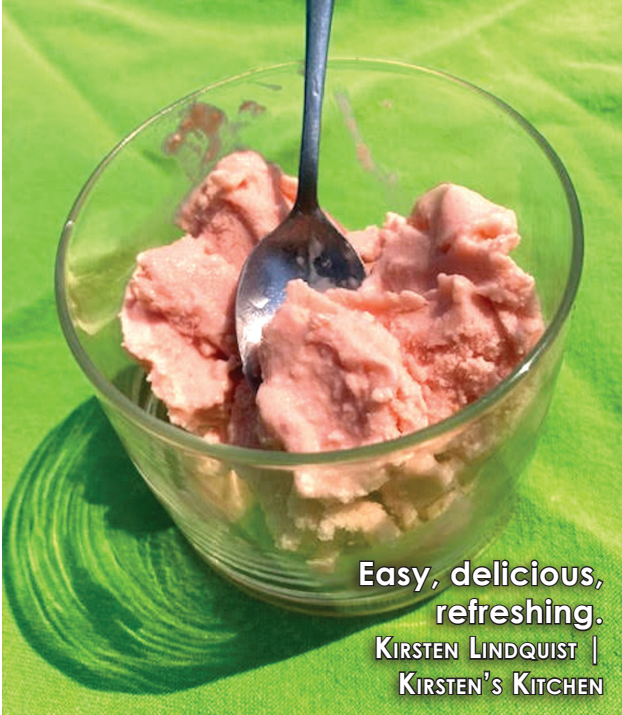

Lately I have returned to a childhood favorite, watermelon. Literally eating pounds of the delicious red stuff, and I still want more. When friends called and said they wanted to come over to grill fresh caught halibut and corn on the cob and asked if I could provide dessert, I whipped up this sorbet. Easy, delicious, refreshing! Do yourself a favor and freeze some chunks of watermelon and then puree it into deliciousness. Your future self will thank you!

Watermelon Sorbet with Coconut Cream
Inspired by Eat The Gains – makes 1 quart
1 lb or 4 cups cubed watermelon (seedless or remove seeds), frozen
2-3 tablespoons coconut cream (you can refrigerate a can of coconut milk and scrape off the solid cream or buy a can of only coconut cream)
2 tablespoons lime

Easy, delicious, refreshing.
KIRSTEN LINDQUIST | KIRSTEN'S KITCHEN

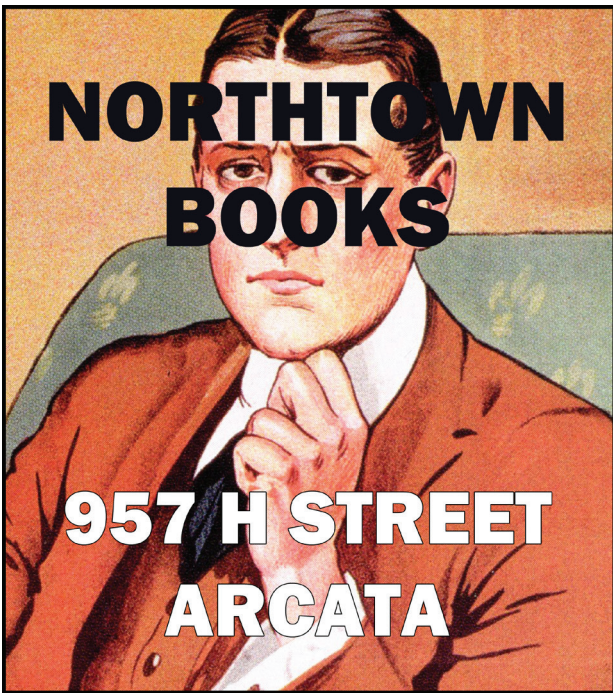

juice
1 - 2 tablespoons sugar, to taste
pinch of salt

until very well combined. It should have a creamy consistency like soft serve. You can eat it then if you like it soft or refrigerate for several hours to firm it up. The flavors will meld more in the freezer, but it is worth while to allow the final produce to sit at room temperature for 3 to 4 minutes before serving for the full flavors to bloom. Hugs!

Place watermelon in a food processor and process until fully pureed; add coconut cream and puree to combine. If you add more coconut cream, it will dilute the flavor of the watermelon, so adjust as desired. Add lime juice, salt and sugar and process

Training for dunes naturalists

FRIENDS OF THE DUNES
MANILA – Friends of the Dunes is excited to offer Coastal Naturalist Training at the Humboldt Coastal Nature Center, and we need your support.

We believe that everyone should have access to nature and environmental education programs and financial constraints shouldn't be a barrier to participation.

General registration for this training costs individuals $400.

This year, we've had additional requests for scholarships and we hope to raise at least $2,500 to cover current requests for this vital program.

Your contribution to our scholarship fund ensures that aspiring naturalists get the chance to embark on an educational adventure, deepening their connection with nature and building skills for a lifetime.

Naturalists are important members of our communities during our current climate crisis. Donate now and help nurture the next generation of coastal stewards.

Moo Horse and MooLa – bovine inspiration in Fieldbrook

With today's news and headlines it becomes difficult if not impossible to be a "Pollyanna" who can be excessively optimistic sometimes to the point of ignoring negative realities. We can't always take a spoonful of sugar (Mary Poppins) to make the medicine go down.

However, three miles from Blue Lake on Fieldbrook Road there exists a beacon of positivity and humor.

Moo Horse embodies some of simple but profound sayings of Winnie the Pooh, humorous deeper philosophical topics of Calvin and Hobbes and clever wordplay.

Jessup Miller bought Moo Horse about eight years ago at a Fortuna garage sale. "My family thought I was crazy spending $200 on a wooden animal with the head of a horse, big cow udders that was painted like a Holstein cow. I told them this was an investment in community spirit" explained Miller.

Hence, the legend of Moo Horse came to be. Originally, she served as something for the kids to play on. As they outgrew this fascination Moo Horse was moved out to the open field where she served as a Christmas decoration with Santa and a sled.

The Millers began putting up random signs next to Moo Horse such as "life bumps ahead, watch for elk," as well as birthday and graduation greetings. Slogans with farm themes came next – "Grazey daze of summer, outstanding in her field" etc.

The transition is now to mostly funny cow themes. Some favorites include "Moove over," "Udderly insane, "She likes to Moove it," "Moosician," "Cowmmunity cownection," "Cowpanion Animals" and "Heifers be Trippin'."

The live steers in the field began beating up Moo Horse so she now has a fence around her for protection. Weather has taken a toll so Tom Miller has done many repairs to Moo Horse over the years.

However, the worst thing that has happened was when some teenagers thought "cow tipping" Moo Horse (the purported activity of sneaking up on any unsuspecting or sleeping upright cow and pushing it over for entertainment) would be a fun prank.

Moo Horse broke her neck and got a complete re-do, so she is now all concrete.

While she was in rehab, having "Cowsmetic surgery" and out on "Mooternaty leave" Baby MooLa arrived. She is an "imooculate conception" and appears to be half cow and half llama, and is androgynous since there has been no genetic testing performed.

In April 2025, a handwritten note was placed on the fence by a young boy, stating, "Hello neighbors. My dad and I drive by your cow every day. I have some suggestions for the signs by the cow. They are 'All Moo Needs Is Love' and 'All Together Cow.' In case you couldn't tell, I'm a Beatles fan."

Karen Miller (the family sign maker) when asked about Moo Horse and MooLa added, "the best things are the positive messages posted on Facebook, people leaving suggestions on the fence, people stopping by when we're outside saying nice things and cars honking encouragement while driving by. Someone left us a gift card while another left a bottle of wine by the fence. A friend of ours, who is a speech therapist, told me she uses the signs to help her clients understand multiple meanings, phonics and pronunciation. We like neighborhood suggestions, don't do political and try to always be positive."

So, if you're on the way to Fieldbrook Winery or Fieldbrook Country Kitchen, look for Moo Horse and MooLa and a smile will come your way.

Bong hits, red wine and smelt: life at the Mai Kai Apartments

Greg Blomstrom
SPECIAL TO THE UNION

HUMBOLDT STATE COLLEGE – Before it was the Campus Apartments, it was Mai Kai and I lived there between 1969 and 1972 for $37.50 per month. My experience was quite a bit different than Desmond Remington’s.

Most of us who lived there only lived there during the school year, we’d abandon Mai Kai during the summer for summer jobs and then return for school.

During my first year, I lived on the north side on the “ground” floor right above the parking lot but right next to the hallway, next to the mailboxes, and it was noisy as hell.

During my first year at Mai Kai my roommates were assigned to me and they were OK. I only remember one of those roommates, Jeff, who was from San Diego and had a van.

Although I wasn’t smoking weed at the time, my roommates were, and they were all paranoid about smoking in the apartment.

Jeff though, had a van decked out in India print bed spreads. We’d go down late at night, they’d smoke weed and we’d all listen to Steve Miller, Santana and Quick-silver Messenger Service.

Later on when we were less paranoid, we got a gallon of Red Mountain wine and made a bong out of that.

We’d smoke $10 lids through that bong and I can tell you, that Red Mountain bong wine is pretty terrible to try to drink.

So one evening we got the great idea of closing the sliding doors into the parking lot-sized kitchen, as Desmond described it, boiling that wine and sniffing the fumes. I can’t say that it made it any more palatable, but it did the trick.

But then my roommates moved upstairs and I was relegated to the dungeon – the row of apartments on the north side below the parking lot.

I only had one roommate who was way older than me – ancient, maybe 35. He wasn’t a student and actually worked pulling green chain out in the bottoms at the Simpson Mill and was divorced. He had a two-year-old son that he had custody of during the weekends.

I remember that little two-year-old to this day who said everything so very directly. He would burst into the kitchen and go, “Daddy, daddy I got to go shit.” That was probably the worst quarter of my entire year at Mai Kai.

The second and third years that I lived at Mai Kai in ’71 and ’72 I actually chose who I lived with, which made it much more enjoyable.

Those years I lived on the top floor on the south side. It was sunny and warm. Because we were on the top floor, it never sounded like there was a sumo wrestling match going on in the ceiling over our head.

In that second year, one of my roommates, Gino, convinced us that going surf smelt fishing out at Mad River Beach in the middle of night in March in the freezing cold would be a cultural experience. And like most things done at Mai Kai, it involved either weed or booze.

So we went out. He grabbed a net. And we caught surf smelt, little 4 inch-long fish, brought them back to the apartment and in the middle of the night, probably around 2 a.m., and fried them up whole.

To this day I still can’t decide whether or not he tricked us into eating whole fried fish head, guts and all as a joke, or whether that’s the way you really eat surf smelt.

My last year at Mai Kai, one of my chosen roommates bailed out and I had a roommate assigned to me. He was from Weaverville and older. He’d already been drafted, had gone to Oakland and failed his physical.

He was kind of weird and pretty conservative compared to the rest of us, but when he told us how he had failed his physical, we gained a new appreciation for Dan.

He told us that the day before his physical he’d gone out into woods near Weaverville somewhere and shot off an entire box of 50 rounds of bullets and couldn’t hear worth a darn, and that’s why he failed his physical.

So all in all I won’t say I look fondly back at my time at Mai Kai. It was when I watched the TV one night to see if I was going to be drafted (my number came up as 169, whew!).

The Kent State shooting happened in 1970 and Ronald Reagan shut HSC down.

We demonstrated against the war. I went door to door in Arcata, handing out flyers. We marched against the war and shut down U.S. Highway 101 as we crossed the highway at the stoplight where the current student overpass is now.

I became engaged in the local community and still am. I bet there are hundreds, if not more students who lived at Mai Kai, who today continued to live in Humboldt County and make it the community that it is.

Hasta la vista, Mai Kai.

Protect local wildlife – properly manage your yummy wastes

CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA – The City of Arcata is reminding residents to take proactive steps in managing their waste to help prevent wildlife encounters, keep the streets clean and protect the local environment.

Each year, as the fall season approaches, the city receives an increase in reports of wildlife rummaging through garbage and recycling bins in search of food. Wildlife is attracted to the strong smells of household waste. When trash is not properly secured, it can quickly become scattered across neighborhoods and open spaces, creating unsightly litter and serious environmental hazards.

By following the Arcata Municipal Code (Title V, Chapter 3, Solid Waste Management, Sections 5411 and 5412) requirements and considering the Environmental Services Department’s wildlife waste management tips, community members can minimize the likelihood of wildlife visiting their property.

1. Residents should learn which animals frequent their area and how they interact with trash and then tailor their approach accordingly.
- For instance, raccoons are skilled at opening lids and digging through bags, while bears may knock over bins to access contents.

- a) Residents near forested areas and open spaces are more likely to encounter wildlife and must remain more vigilant about their solid waste management than those in other areas.
2. Store bins in a fully enclosed, secure area at all times until the morning of pickup. Garages, sheds and fenced enclosures with roofs are the most effective ways to prevent wildlife from accessing trash.
3. Set bins out as near to pickup as possible, then return them to the proper-

BEAR PROOFING This properly secured Sunny Brae trash receptacle managed to repel a foraging bear, who reacilly tried to chew its way in. While it might be able to rip open a car door, the bear couldn’t operate Fastexx buckles. Measures like this help animals survive in the perilous forest/urban interface by preventing dependence on unsecured trash. The truism, “a fed animal is a dead animal” was again confirmed in 2016, when a garbage-habituated bear was shot and killed by a resident after reportedly attempting to enter a Sunny Brae front yard. PHOTOS BY KLH | UNION

4. Keep lids closed tightly and do not overfill them. If there is garbage left behind after pickup, please remove it promptly. Recology drivers do not pick up spilled trash.

- a) If there is consistently more waste than fits in the bin, consider increasing the service level.
- Contact Recology Arcata at (707) 683-4853 to discuss options.
5. Utilize wildlife straps or bungee cords on bins to make them more secure. Choose brightly colored and driver-friendly removal styles. Those choosing to use straps should be sure to notify Recology.
6. Routinely clean bins and check for damage. Contact Recology to request a replacement or repair.
7. Avoid strong smells by keeping meat, fish and other smelly scraps in a fridge or freezer until pick up day.
8. Keep outdoor areas clean and free of food scraps. Secure pet food, clean up fallen fruit, remove bird feeders and properly maintain compost piles to avoid drawing animals to a property. Consider using motion-activated lights to discourage wildlife activity further.

The city thanks residents for doing their part to keep Arcata clean and safe for the community and local wildlife.

For more information about waste management strategies, visit cityofarcata.org/275/Recycling-Garbage-and-Organics or contact Environmental Services at (707) 822-8184.

come residents, preventing displacement.

- Owner-Occupied Rehabilitation Program – Using Permanent Local Housing Allocation funding to provide loans to low-income homeowners for repairs that improve health, safety and accessibility to help to keep people in their homes.
- Tenant-Based Rental Assistance (TBRA) Program – Provides rental and deposit assistance for low-income households, prioritizing seniors and people experiencing homelessness. The City launched TBRA in 2020 with a $1 million state grant, assisting 85 households so far. The city just received $1.5 million in additional grant funding to continue the program through June of 2028.
- Housing Choice Vouchers – Partners with the County Housing Authority to transition TBRA recipients into long-term Housing Choice Vouchers whenever possible, ensuring ongoing stability.
- First-time Homebuyer Programs – The city has assisted 129 first-time homebuyers and 89 low-income homeowners with the rehabilitation of their homes since inception of these two programs.

The city provides funding, facilities and grant assistance to support services operated by community partners including the Arcata House Partnership and other organizations which provide the following:

- Rapid Rehousing – Moves individuals from homelessness into permanent housing quickly.
- Transitional Housing – Offers temporary housing and support services to help residents stabilize.

- Permanent Supportive Housing and Case Management – Combines housing with services for residents with higher needs.
- Youth Support Services – Provides targeted programs and referrals for homeless and at-risk youth.
- Extreme Weather Shelter – Opens emergency shelter during severe weather events to protect unsheltered residents.

More information on the City’s housing program can be found at cityofarcata.org/152/Housing.

Why doesn’t the city let encampments stay where they are?

Public spaces need to be available to everyone. Public spaces such as the Arcata Plaza, Community Forest and other parks and recreation facilities are treasures for Arcata and should be available and enjoyed by all. Encampments can create unsafe environments and encumber spaces in a way that limits public use of shared community resources.

Cleaning up of encampments is critical to protect the environment, including rivers, creeks, wetlands and other waterways. Accumulations of human feces, urine, hypodermic needles, blood, bodily fluids and discarded food can lead to contamination of the environment and health hazards. Disease transmission risk includes hepatitis, E. coli, salmonella and other pathogens.

This damage and destruction of vegetation and wildlife habitats can take years for recovery. Illegal dumping of unused construction materials, household garbage and combustible materials and substances can lead to fires, toxic smoke and other serious health and safety concerns.

Private property is protected by law. Property owners have the legal right to request that individuals who enter or remain on private property without permission leave. The Arcata Police Department can assist property owners who complete a Request for Prosecution for Trespassing form.

- New mandates from the state. The State of California has been investing in projects and committing grant funds to programs to help the unhoused population find housing. However, the number of unhoused people in California continues to grow. The state is transitioning to requiring the identification and cleanup of encampments to qualify for funding for homeless housing and assistance.

Although this has not been required of the city to date, it is expected that more pressure will be put on the city in the future to resolve encampments in order to qualify for funding for homeless assistance.

What is Arcata doing to clean up public spaces and parks?

The city is working diligently to keep our public spaces clean and avoid the accumulation of waste and debris in sensitive habitats and waterways, often associated with unpermitted camping. Priority areas for cleanup have included the Arcata Marsh, the Mad River riparian areas, creeks, wetlands and the Arcata Community Forest.

In addition to city crews conducting cleanups, the city has contracted with John Shelter and People of New Directions. John is an experienced expert on cleaning up illegal dumping and encampments. He takes a measured, patient approach and tries to address each unique situation that he encounters with patience and care. Mr. Shelter has been successful in assisting the city to clean up the Arcata Marsh and Wildlife Sanctuary, Arcata Community Forest and illegal dumping and encampments around the City.

What is happening on the property between South O Street and Samoa Boulevard? Is the city conducting sweeps of homeless camps?

There has been a lot of input from the public lately about the property between South O Street and Samoa Boulevard that comprises several large privately owned parcels and the Great Redwood Trail right of way.

The City of Arcata is working cooperatively with private property owners to clean up the illegal dumping on their property and is providing law enforcement assistance to enforce trespassing laws when requested. There are no organized sweeps that have been planned or undertaken by the city.

Some basic facts about the work happening in that area include:

- The private property owners, Great Redwood Trail Agency and City of Arcata have hired John Shelter and People of New Directions to clean up the site and adjacent areas.
- John Shelter has been working there over the last two to three months and his efforts thus far have focused only on cleaning up garbage. He has also let people camping at the site know that ultimately, they will have to leave, and is working with them individually on identifying alternatives.

- So far, over 100,000 pounds of trash and debris have been removed.
- Personal property is not being taken. Should camps ultimately be removed, the city has a duty to store personal property and hold it until it can be claimed by its owners.
- No people camping at the site have been arrested for trespassing or forced to leave to date. Most of the encampments (ranging from a single tent to makeshift structures) remain.

The city is working with community partners to develop a plan for occupants of the site to have access to housing and/or rehabilitation and will seek participation from organizations that can be helpful to identify solutions.

What can I do to get involved?

- Volunteer for and donate to service organizations such as Arcata House Partnership, Uplift Eureka, McKinleyville Family Resource Center, Betty Kwan Chinn Day Center and CASA of Humboldt.
- Volunteer for cleanups with PacOut Green Team, Coastal Cleanup groups or Humboldt Trails Council.
- Report dumping and unlawful camping. Please call (707) 822-2424 to report non-emergency dumping or illegal camping.

Contact the city manager or City Council members to share ideas. The City of Arcata, its staff and elected officials, want to work with the community to provide the best service possible to the homeless community. Sharing ideas and engaging in dialogue are always the best ways to achieve meaningful results.

For more information, please visit cityofarcata.org or call (707) 822-5953.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ES- TATE OF

DENIS LINDSAY DUN- LAP
CASE NO.: PR2400183
To all heirs, bene- ficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of:
DENIS LINDSAY DUN- LAP
A Petition for Probate has been filed by: ASH- LEY NICOLE MILLER in the Superior Court of California, County of HUMBOLDT.
The Petition for Pro- bate requests that: ASHLEY NICOLE MILLER be appointed as personal represen- tative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the In- dependent Administra- tion of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representa- tive to take any actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested per- sons unless they have waived notice or con- sented to the proposed action.) The indepen- dent administration au- thority will be granted unless an interested person files an objec- tion to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the peti- tion will be held in this court as follows:
Date: AUG. 28, 2025
Time: 9:30 a.m.
Dept.: 4
Room: 4
Address of court: Superior Court of Cali- fornia, County of Hum- boldt, 825 Fifth Street, Eureka, CA, 95501.
COURT MAY BE CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC DUE TO THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC. PLEASE VISIT https:// www.humboldt.courts. ca.gov FOR INFOR- MATION ON HOW TO PARTICIPATE IN AN ONLINE VIDEO HEARING.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appear- ance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent cred- itor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general per- sonal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal deliv- ery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other Califor- nia statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a cred- itor. You may want to consult with an attor- ney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a per- son interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code sec- tion 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

If the Trust- ee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the suc- cessful bidder shall have no further recourse. Dated: August 12, 2025 REDWOOD TRUST DEED SERVICES, INC., as said Trustee ATTN: ROBERT CULLEN P.O. BOX 6875 SAN- TA ROSA, CA 95406-0875 ROBERT CULLEN, President NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BID- DERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bid- ding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this infor- mation. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWN- ER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be post- poned one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that in- formation about trustee sale postponements be made avail- able to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applica- ble, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (800) 683-2468 or visit this Internet Web site: www. servicelinkASAP.com, using the Trustee Sale number assigned to this file, T.S. #25060-RT. In- formation about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not im- mediately be reflected in the tele- phone information or on the In- ternet Web site. The best way to verify postponement infor- mation is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to pur- chase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auc- tion. There are three steps to exercising this right of pur- chase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (800) 683-2468, or visit this internet website www.servicelinkASAP.com, using the file number assigned to this case 25060-RT to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eli- gible bidder," you should con- sider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate profes- sional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ES- TATE OF MICHAEL SHAUN DOLAN
To all heirs, bene- ficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of:
MICHAEL SHAUN DOLAN
A Petition for Pro- bate has been filed by: ROGER LANDRY in the Superior Court of California, County of HUMBOLDT.
The Petition for Pro- bate requests that: ROGER LANDRY be appointed as personal representative to ad- minister the estate of the decedent.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the In- dependent Administra- tion of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representa- tive to take any actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested per- sons unless they have waived notice or con- sented to the proposed action.) The indepen- dent administration au- thority will be granted unless an interested person files an objec- tion to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the peti- tion will be held in this court as follows:
Date: SEPT. 11, 2025
Time: 9:30 a.m.
Dept.: 4
Room: 4

Music in the Park wraps up Thursday night

MCKINLEYVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
MCKINLEYVILLE — After a summer of packed lawns, picnic blankets and easy evenings at the park, McKinleyville’s Music in the Park series wraps its 2025 season this Thursday, Aug. 21, with Makenu bringing the finale to Pier-son Park.
“This series is about neighbors bumping into neighbors – and the simple joy of a summer night in the park,” said Jesse Miles, executive director of the McKinleyville Chamber of Commerce. “The community showed up all season long. Let’s finish strong together on Thursday.”
The season has been a clear win for local families, small businesses, and visitors – steady crowds, smiling kids, and plenty of dinner-from-a-food-truck moments. The finale keeps the full park experience intact: food trucks, beer booth, lawn games, a Girl Scout climbing wall, local vendors, and skate ramps – plus the best part of all: the community.

As well as for non-profits – the McKinleyville Chamber has been able to donate over $800 worth of tips this summer from the beer booth to our non-profit partners, in addition to the money and awareness they raised at their booths each week.
Bring a blanket or chairs, grab dinner in the park and let the kids run off that first-day-of-school energy while Makenu sets the groove.
Thanks to our sponsors, partners, musicians, vendors, and volunteers for fueling another standout season.
For updates, visit mckinleyvillechamber.com and follow the McKinleyville Chamber on social media.
The McKinleyville Chamber of Commerce is a non-profit organization that facilitates business growth and promotes community service while honoring our town’s unique atmosphere and history. Vision: Nurturing Business, Building Community.

Celebrate a jazz great at the Playhouse

CREATIVE SANCTUARY
CREAMERY DISTRICT – On Thursday Aug. 21 the Creative Sanctuary’s Homage to the Message series continues with a celebration Lee Morgan at 7 p.m. at the Arcata Playhouse, 1251 Ninth St. in Arcata. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. and tickets are $10 to $30.
Lee Morgan, the Philadelphia-area trumpet prodigy, followed in the footsteps of the great Clifford Brown, moving to New York City from Philadelphia to join a later generation of Jazz Messengers (as did Brown).
Morgan’s music is characterized by funky hardbop melodies, swinging as well as “straight 8ths” tunes that bridge the gap between jazz with all its hip harmonic changes and the funky, rock ‘n’ roll influenced styles of the late 1950s and early ’60s.
“Once again we’re doing a tribute to a trumpet player without a trumpet player in the band, it actually makes it interesting and unique. Some of the tunes we’ve moved to different keys that are better for the trombone/tenor saxophone front line. Lee’s records have been on steady rotation for me since high school.
Once again, another messenger who had a deep impact on jazz players with his work with Art Blakey (actually in two stints, first from 1958-61, then again in 1964-65) and followed that up by putting over a dozen records as a solo artist,” says James Zeller. “It’s gonna be really fun.”
The band for this show will be James Zeller, trombone; Tree, tenor saxophone; Matthew Seno, piano; Danny Gaon, bass; and Ramsey Isaacs on drums in the role of Art Blakey himself.
The series takes place once a month on the Arcata Playhouse, moving chronologically through Jazz Messengers history. Each show will feature the music of a composer or multiple composers from a particular period. Stay tuned!

Climate | Carbon footprint

The multi-jurisdictional Climate Action Plan aligns with state goals of reducing greenhouse sets emissions 40 percent below 1990 levels and, under recent legislation, 85 percent below 1990 levels or carbon neutrality by 2045.
The big targets for reducing emissions are vehicle transportation and natural gas energy use in buildings.
The Plan has 12 strategies for reducing emissions, including the “cornerstone” strategy of creating a “regional climate coalition” and “decarbonization” of existing and new construction.
Other strategies include shifting driving to walking, biking and public transit, and changing land use practices to reduce vehicle use.
Implementation measures include reducing residential-related natural gas consumption by 74 percent by 2045 and expanding public transit.
Some of the measures differentiate between urban and rural conditions, and future development projects that comply with the plan will be allowed to streamline their environmental reviews.
But Planning Director John Ford said establishing a baseline greenhouse gas emissions level is “one of the big struggles” in drafting the plan.
That’s because 1990 is a state-defined but ambiguous basis of comparison.

“There’s a lot of people that are saying the baseline number is too low, that our carbon footprint was much higher than we’re acknowledging,” said Ford. “So to just reveal the big white elephant in the middle of the room – we don’t believe for a minute that we contribute to the greenhouse gas emissions problem in the state or the United States or the world, we’re fundamentally a carbon sink and fundamentally we also believe that the amount of greenhouse gas emissions now are really far less than they were in 1990.”
The county is obligated by the state’s methodology to “back cast” to its 1990 level but it’s imprecise.
“There is a wide chasm between those who believe that the number’s too low and those who believe the number’s too high,” Ford acknowledged, adding that the county must follow state rules on what it has the ability to regulate.
Commissioner Noah Levy pointed out that the plan, like the state framework, focuses heavily on cutting emissions but does not fully account for carbon sequestration, which he believes the county could have a much larger role in.
Other commissioners raised questions about how the plan would accommodate – or hinder – future economic growth.
Ford said the plan is not intended to “stop industry” but rather to be a “blueprint” to “guide growth and guide how we make decisions.”

It can be adjusted as it’s implemented, including with new measures should the county fall short of the plan’s goals, he added.
During a public comment period, cannabis permitting compliance consultant Praj White said “many landowners are already making carbon deals across the county” to sell carbon credits.
“I want to emphasize that waiting might mean that we’re giving our water away, giving our trees away and giving our carbon away rather than getting the benefit here,” he continued.
Ford said carbon sequestration will be looked at “down the road” but there’s no definite methodology for including it in the plan.
Nevertheless, an effort is underway to quantify it and the county has applied for grants to “begin that work,” he continued. “It is troubling and we recognize that many industries are using carbon sequestration and buying cap and trade credits, and we’d hate to think that all that got bought up before we ever got to a place where the county got the benefit of its location.”
He added, “But the state has not given us an accepted methodology yet to say, ‘yes, you can take credit for that.’
The workshop was continued to Sept. 4.
A public hearing and final commission review is expected in early October.
